

Coins collected for cancer research at CVHS

By Lisa Fischer

GREELEY - Central Valley High School Freshmen McKenzie Johnson, Audrey Wood, Taryn Barr and Dani Wadsworth, kicked off the Pennies for Patients Fundraiser at CVHS on April 9. The fundraiser, meant to raise funds for the Leukemia and Lymphoma Society, will run for two weeks, until April 20, with donation boxes installed in the 9th, 10th, 11th and 12th grade sponsor classrooms.

It was kicked off on Mon., April 9, after first period with a Car Dash. The event was open to all students in grades 9-12 who drove vehicles to school. Students retrieved money inside of their vehicles with the winner, Taya Kolar with $21.73, receiving soda and beef jerky. Students are encouraged to bring as many coins as possible, because the winning class is rewarded with a pizza party and all donations will go towards fighting cancer.
